A film inspired by the true story of the struggle for, opposition to, and ultimate success of a rural Cherokee community to bring running water to their families by using the traditional concept of gadugi—working together to solve a problem.

This film was funded by The Wilma Mankiller Foundation, a fund of Tulsa Community Foundation which seeks to continue Wilma Mankiller's legacy of social justice and community development in Indian Country. The mission of the Foundation is to support and promote culturally appropriate community and economic development projects in Native communities, to advance educational and women's leadership opportunities for Native people.

Zonta of Everett is part of an international organization dedicated to the advancement and empowerment of women. This movie is a natural match for us and a great means of seeking connections across communities to help fund scholarships for the young women of Snohomish County.
